InfoImage Inc. Wednesday unveiled Freedom 1.5, the architecture that forms the base of its new corporate portal suite.

InfoImage said the system gives companies increased intranet and extranet access to employees. It can support up to 500 concurrent users and enables multiple servers to work together to provide access to thousands of users both inside and outside an organization.

"Companies have spent large sums automating their processes, but success in the future will be determined by the velocity in which they can make important business decisions. With the new federated architecture, freedom now enhances and automates the decision-making process within a business much faster," said Randy Eckel, InfoImage president and chief executive officer.

Using Web browsers, Freedom gives access to intranet pages, databases and a variety of other data. Employees can then contact colleagues using instant messages or e-mail alerts to tell them about information they want to share.

The system works in conjunction with Lotus Domino and Microsoft Exchange and has several features allowing users to personalize content.

In response to this requirement please provide information on Freedom 1.5 and other releases which were made available prior to 15 September 1999, any known publications, papers, brochures, manual and press releases that describe an enterprise portal architecture comprising a plurality of user systems connected, over a network, to at least two portals with a plurality of data sources coupled over a network to said portals; The information is required to identify products and/or services embodying the disclosed subject matter.

The fee and certification requirements of 37 CFR 1.97 are waived for those documents submitted in reply to this requirement. This waiver extends only to those documents within the scope of the requirement under 37 CFR 1.105 that are included in the applicant's first complete communication responding to this requirement. Any supplemental replies subsequent to the first communication responding to this requirement and any information disclosures beyond the scope of this requirement under 37 CFR 1.105 are subject to the fee and certification requirements of 37 CFR 1.97 where appropriate.

In responding to those requirements that require copies of documents, where the document is a bound text or a single article over 50 pages, the requirement may be met by providing copies of those pages that provide the particular subject matter indicated in the requirement, or where such subject matter is not indicated, the subject matter found in applicant's disclosure.

The applicant is reminded that the reply to this requirement must be made with candor and good faith under 37 CFR 1.56. Where the applicant does not have or cannot
